Dear Sir,

What a shame that you are thinking of closing the cities pools. Where are the young people that are not privileged enough to join the local gyms around here supposed to swim. Or how about the family that is doing well working and making ends meet and can't afford to spend the money to join a gym so their child can be in an activity as great as swimming.

What about all the high schools trying to work out schedules to get their water polo and swim teams some pool time. Not all high schools have pools.

We live in a state where there are many rivers and lakes. What a shame that young people cannot enjoy going to a safe place to learn to swim.

Respectfully,

The Brunson Family
