APPLICATION SUMMARY: A proposal to remove the non-historic awnings and modify the storefront on the exterior of the Reed Opera House (1869).

LOCATION: 189 Liberty Street NE

REQUEST Major Historic Design Review of a proposal to remove the non-historic awnings, modify the storefront, and replace doors on the exterior of the Reed Opera House (1869), a Historic Contributing Resource within Salem’s Downtown National Register Historic District, located at 189 Liberty Street NE (Marion County Tax Assessor Number 073W27AB05900).

PROPOSAL

The applicant, is proposing to remove all of the non-original awnings, and remove and relocate an existing entrance approximately 16’ to the east, requiring replacement and extension of the storefront on the western end of the Reed’s northern façade. Additionally, the applicant is proposing to replace non-original entry doors on the north, east, and western facades of the Reed (Attachment C).

SUMMARY OF RECORD

The following items are submitted to the record and are available upon request: All materials submitted by the applicant and any materials and comments from public agencies, City departments, neighborhood associations, and the public; and all documents referenced in this report.

APPLICANT’S STATEMENT

A request for historic design review must be supported by proof that it conforms to all applicable criteria imposed by the Salem Revised Code. The applicants submitted a written statement, which is included in its entirety as Attachment C in this staff report.

Staff utilized the information from the applicant’s statements to evaluate the applicant's proposal and to compose the facts and findings within the staff report. Salem Revised Code (SRC) 230.040 Standards for Historic Contributing Buildings in Commercial Historic Districts (d) Storefronts are the applicable criteria for evaluation of this proposal.
FACTS & FINDINGS

1. Historic Designation

Under Salem Revised Code (SRC) Chapter 230, no development permit for a designated historic resource shall be issued without the approval of the Historic Landmarks Commission (HLC). The HLC shall approve, conditionally approve, or deny the application on the basis of the projects conformity with the criteria. Conditions of approval, if any, shall be limited to project modifications required to meet the applicable criteria.

According to SRC 230.020(f), historic design review approval shall be granted if the application satisfies the applicable standards set forth in Chapter 230. The HLC shall render its decision supported by findings that explain conformance or lack thereof with relevant design standards, state the facts relied upon in rendering the decision, and explain justification for the decision.

2. Historic Significance

According to nomination documents the Reed Opera House was constructed in 1869 by architect G.W. Rhodes as envisioned by Cyrus Adams Reed. Reed was a member of the Oregon State legislature. Originally, the building was constructed with a 1500 seat Opera House on the second and third floors, there was a hotel on the western portion of the building. The building was also designed with space for the Oregon Supreme Court and the State Library and retail stores on the first floors. Reed was closely tied to the the Oregon Woman’s Suffrage Association, and Susan B. Anthony used the Reed stage in 1871 to campaign for votes for women.

This resource is historic contributing to Salem’s Downtown Commercial Historic District. While the first floor storefront has been altered, overall it retains a high degree of integrity. The most significant alterations to the resource were in 1920. At this time, the first floor of the Reed Opera House was converted for use by Miller’s Department Store which remained in this building through the 1960s. The masonry first story, which originally reflected the design of the upper stories was replaced with a wood and glass storefront. The original triangular pediment on the roof of the eastern façade was also removed during this period. The 2nd and 3rd floors retain the integrity of their original design and openings. In 1994, the existing awnings were added to the exterior of the building as part of renovations for new tenants. In 2004, a triangular pediment was added back to the roof, restoring the appearance of this portion of the facade (Attachment B).

3. Neighborhood and Citizen Comments

The subject property is located within the Central Area Downtown Neighborhood Association (CANDO). Notification of the public hearing was sent to the neighborhood association, all property owners within the Salem Downtown National Register District, and surrounding property owners within 250 feet of the property pursuant to Salem Revised Code (SRC) requirements on April 25, 2019. Notice of public hearing was also posted on the subject property. At the time of writing this staff report, no comments were received from the neighborhood association or from adjoining property owners.

4. City Department and Public Agency Comments

The Building and Safety Division indicates that the applicant must obtain required building permits.

5. Historic Design Review

SRC Chapter 230.040 specifies the standards applicable to this project. The applicant, is proposing to remove all of the non-original awnings, and remove and relocate an existing entrance approximately 16' to the east, requiring replacement of the storefront on the western end of the Reed’s northern façade. Additionally, the applicant is proposing to replace non-original entry doors on the northern, eastern, and western facades of the Reed Opera House (Attachment C). Historic Landmarks Commission staff reviewed the project proposal and has the following findings for the applicable guidelines.

FINDINGS

Criteria 230.040 Standards for Historic Contributing Buildings in Commercial Historic Districts.

(d) Storefronts. Replacement of storefronts or components of storefronts in historic contributing buildings shall be allowed only where the owner has attempted repair, but repair was determined to be unfeasible due to poor condition of the materials. If the storefront is not original then every effort shall be made to replicate the original feature; the effort shall be substantiated by historic, physical, or pictorial evidence. If the feature cannot be replicated then it should be of a compatible design and material.

(1) Materials.
(A) Original material shall, if possible, be retained or repaired.

Finding: The awnings, storefront, and the doors proposed for replacement and relocation are not original to the structure. Therefore, staff recommends that the HLC find that there are no historic materials or features proposed for removal, reconstruction, or repair and that Standard 230.040 (d)(1)(A) is not applicable to the evaluation of this proposal.

(B) Replacement materials shall be, to the greatest extent practicable, of the same type, quality, design, size, finish, proportions, and configuration of the original materials in the storefront.

Finding: The original storefront and door material is no longer extant; however, there is photographic evidence of the original doors and storefront(s) which changed and evolved significantly from 1869 through the end of the period of significance for the Downtown Historic District (through 1950). It is likely that the original doors were wood and that throughout the many storefront changes the storefront material was wood or metal and trimmed with wood. The applicant is proposing to install a new storefront replicating the material of the existing with glass and wood and a painted stucco over concrete base, which when painted will have the same appearance as existing storefront throughout the first floor of the Reed. The non-original doors will be replaced with a wood, metal and glass door, painted to patch the building. Overall the proposed replacement materials are compatible, and of the same quality and type of materials currently found on the exterior of the Reed, therefore, staff recommends that the HLC find that SRC 230.040 (d)(1)(B) has been met for this proposal.

(2) Design.

(A) To the extent practicable, original storefront components such as windows, door configuration, transoms, signage, and decorative features shall be preserved.

Finding: The original storefront is no longer extant, therefore it is not feasible to preserve character defining features of the original storefront. However, the existing awnings are not original to the structure, and the awning system that stretches along the northern and eastern facades of the structure currently blocks character defining features of the Reed, such as the transoms, which were added during the period of significance. The proposed door replacements on the east and western facades will be installed within the existing door openings which will be preserved, and no original character defining features will be adversely effected by their replacement or the replacement of the non-original storefront. Overall, the applicant’s proposal will serve to restore the exterior of the Reed, therefore, staff recommends that the HLC find that SRC 230.040(d)(2)(A) has been met.

(B) Where the original storefront is too deteriorated to save, the commercial character of the building shall be retained through:

(i) A restoration of the storefront based on historical research and physical evidence.

Finding: While there are historic photographs of the resource, the applicant is not proposing to restore the storefront to a precise date within the period of significance, therefore staff recommends that the HLC find that SRC 230.040(d)(2)(B)(i) does not apply to the evaluation of this proposal.

(ii) Contemporary design that is compatible with the scale, design, materials, color and texture of historic compatible buildings in the district.

Finding: The applicant is proposing to remove non-original awnings, replace non-original doors, relocate an existing entry, and replace the storefront along the western portion of the north façade. This new storefront will replicate the material and design of the existing storefront with glass and wood and a painted stucco over concrete base, which when painted will have the same appearance as existing storefront throughout the first floor of the Reed. Overall, the proposed alterations are compatible with the scale, design, and materials of the Reed, therefore staff recommends that the HLC find that SRC 230.040(d)(2)(B)(ii) has been met for this proposal.

(C) For buildings that provide a separate upper-story entrance on the exterior facade, the street-level entrance should be the primary focus of the building facade.

Finding: While the applicant is proposing to replace the non-original doors, they are not proposing to alter the existing upper story entrance at the center of the northern façade.
Removal of the non-original awnings and associated signage will ensure that the character defining features of this façade, such as this entry, can be better appreciated.
Staff recommends that the HLC find that SRC 230.040(d)(2)(C) has been met.

(D) Original openings that have been covered or blocked should be re-opened when feasible.

Finding: While the storefront has been altered multiple times since its construction, the most significant alterations were in 1920. During this period the masonry first story which originally reflected the design of the upper stories was replaced with a wood and glass storefront. At this time no openings were filled in, but instead this first floor was opened up. The 2nd and 3rd floors retain the integrity of their original design and openings, and none have been filled in. Since there are no openings that have been filled in within the areas proposed for replacement, staff recommends that the HLC find that SRC 230.040(d)(2)(D) is not applicable to the evaluation of this proposal.

RECOMMENDATION

Based upon the information presented in the application, plans submitted for review, and findings as presented in this staff report, staff recommends that the Historic Landmarks Commission APPROVE the proposal.

DECISION ALTERNATIVES

1. APPROVE the proposal as submitted by the applicant and indicated on the drawings.

2. APPROVE the proposal with conditions to satisfy specific guideline(s).

3. DENY the proposal based on noncompliance with identified guidelines in SRC 230, indicating which guideline(s) is not met and the reason(s) the guideline is not met.

Reed Opera House replaces piece of history

By Toby Manthey
Statesman Journal

Crane operators Robert Duncan and George Robert have lifted everything — hot tubs, a rhinocerous, you name it. On Monday a crowd on Liberty Street NE watched them dangle a 3,000-pound pediment from their employer’s bright-yellow crane.

About 5:30 p.m., the pediment moved up, up and away from a flatbed trailer to rest on the Reed Opera House roof 12 minutes later.

“Ever since I was a little kid, that’s always been my favorite building in Salem,” said David Johnson, 28, about the Reed Opera House. Johnson now has a delivery business in the former opera house, and watched the pediment progress all day. “I like the history. The design.”

With the pediment, that design is more historically accurate than it has been in more than a century.

The new pediment is a reconstruction of an original ornament that went missing in the 1960s. Reed Opera House owner Roger Yost said architect Keith S. Chrisman, who designed the new pediment based on historic photos, believes the old ornament simply wore out and was taken down. The new one, which has a steel interior and a brick facade, should be sturdier.

A historical photo shows the pediment atop the Reed Opera House. The pediment disappeared in the 1960s. Money for the new 11-by-20-foot ornament came from an urban renewal grant of $100,000; the price for the city’s missing architectural feature contest.

Renovations are restoring lost grandeur to the 125-year-old Reed Opera House.

By Marla C. Berninger

The Statesman Journal

Walking into the renovated Reed Opera House, one can almost hear the ballgowns swishing.

The Lafayette Grover Ballroom, now returned to its 19th-century grandeur, is one of many renovations at the Reed Opera House Mall that sparked memories — and business.

“A lot of people go through the building and fall in love with it,” said contractor James Wares.

The three-story structure, at 189 Liberty St. NE, dates back to 1869 when the first floor contained retail shops and the second floor an opera house.

Since then, a third floor was added and the ballroom moved up a level.

The rest of the space now features a lofty maze of retail shops, restaurants and offices that are sprinkled on different levels and mezzanines.

Renovations have been sprouting up in the building, keeping things constantly changing.

Rose’s Ice Cream Cafe, which moved into the mall a couple of months ago, was a result of a major renovation of two smaller shops that left the mall.

Crescendo’s Southern Kitchen, located on the first floor, is finishing up a project that added a wet bar, see-through windows and new carpeting.

And the Cyrus Reed Room, named after the man who constructed the building, is being remade into office space and a reception room on the second floor.

“Business is picking up,” Wares said. “It has a lot to do with the renovations.”

It seems that renovations begot renovations. Because now, Wares and the building’s owner, Ian Bourne, are working to shape up some of the empty space for incoming businesses.

An art and antique gallery will be moving onto the first floor in August, and a beauty parlor soon will come to the basement level.

There are also several offices that are being cleared out and redone on the second floor. The ballroom project was finished about a year ago, and inquiries about using the room for various receptions and performances have greatly increased, said Eric Rund, the building’s manager.

“Its renovation has been its largest asset,” Rund said. “The room is booked from now until 1996.”

In total, Bourne has spent more than $500,000 on refurbishing the building. Wares said.

The only problem is that the mall’s location makes parking difficult.

The city of Salem, Bourne and various merchants are looking to put one- and two-hour parking limits on the spaces in front of the building to create a continual flow of cars and empty spaces for shoppers.

“It’s a slow process,” Wares said of all the changes taking place. “But people care about the building. It brings back a lot of warm memories.”

Project Description

Briefly provide an overview of the type of work proposed. Describe how it meets the applicable design criteria in SRC Chapter 230. Please attach any additional information (i.e., product specification sheets) that will help staff and the HLC clearly understand the proposed work:

Relocation of existing doorway in the NW corner of the building approximately 16 feet to the east to provide improved access to the interior space consistent with the planned interior remodel. The doorway will be converted from a single wood and glass door to double (wood and glass) door to accommodate additional traffic, and recessed as shown on the accompanying drawings. The storefront on Court Street will be extended across the doorway into the existing tenant suite adjacent to the lower level entry doors.

In addition, we would request permission to change the other doors from their current wood and glass design to the more historically consistent design that will be used on the relocated entry pictured in the accompanying materials.

Re: Reed Opera House Historic Alteration Review
Statement Addressing Applicable Criteria

Thank you for taking the time to review our application for a major historic design review.

The application has three components.

1. Relocation of an existing entrance approximately 16 feet to align with the building columns and to accommodate the anticipated pedestrian traffic resulting from the proposed remodel of approximately 2,800 SF on the first floor of the building;

2. Elimination of an existing entrance (that currently enters one tenant suite off of Court Street; and

3. Replacement of the worn, existing entry doors on the first floor of the building with more historically-appropriate wood and glass doors.

Relocation of Existing Doorway. As a contributing historic building in a commercial historic district, the appropriate criteria governing alterations are found in SRC 230.040, Standards for historic contributing buildings in commercial historic districts, and SRC 230.065, General guidelines for historic contributing resources. Due in part to the many changes to the facades of the Reed Opera House over the years, we are electing to proceed under the guidelines set forth in SRC 230.065.

Materials to be Incorporated.

As the accompanying drawings and photographs show (Photos A-E), we match the existing facade along Court Street. Although the existing storefront differs from the original construction, it would not be practical or financially feasible to restore the entire façade to its original materials and condition. As the commission can see from the historic photographs provided with this application, the building has undergone multiple and significant modifications of its ground-level facades in its nearly 150-year existence. Moreover, SRC section 230.065(e) notes:

Changes that have taken place to a historic resource over the course of time are evidence of the history and development of a historic resource and its environment, and should be recognized and respected. These changes may have acquired significance in their own right, and this significance should be recognized and respected.

Although we propose to match the existing storefront, we will incorporate a more historically-correct wood and glass door, similar to that shown in the accompanying photograph of the doors on the Pine Street Market in downtown Portland (Photograph F). The existing door, as also shown, is worn, has been painted multiple times and needs to be replaced.

Design of New Entry

The accompanying historic photographs show that the locations and number of entries into the Reed from Court Street have varied significantly. On the only clear photograph of the northeast end of the Court Street façade (Photograph A), a saloon named the “Bureau” had its own entry, approximately in the location of the entry we are proposing to relocate; in addition, a separate entry was located just east of the Bureau, approximately where we are proposing to place the new entry. The façade around each of those entries was entirely different than the current storefront.

In what appears to be an earlier photograph (Photograph B), a Hotel sign was located approximately where we would intend to relocate the entry. Whether the hotel entry is same as the door shown next to the Bureau entry is hard to determine.

Unlike the existing entry, the relocated entry will be square to the façade, and it will be recessed to provide protection from the elements. It also will have a double, rather than single, door to accommodate increased pedestrian traffic anticipated to result from the interior remodel (shown in the accompanying drawings). As mentioned above, the existing damaged door will be replaced by more historically accurate doors as shown in the Pine Street Market photograph.

Removal of Existing Tenant Entry Door. The existing door to the east of the proposed new entry appears not to have been a part of the historic façade (Photograph D). The door enters an existing suite immediately adjacent to an entry to the lower level of the building. It is perpendicular to Court Street, entering off of a small alcove. That door will be removed and the storefront extended across the façade to the lower-level entry doors.

Replacing Existing, Worn Doors. As shown in the accompanying photographs (Photographs G), the existing entry doors to the Reed are in poor shape. We would request permission to replace those doors with more historically appropriate wood and glass doors as shown in the Pine Street Market photograph.

Thank you for considering our application.

Sincerely,
